District Health Accepting Appointments for Immunizations

South Central District Health has gone to an appointment-based clinic schedule, moving away from walk-in appointments. District Health clinics in Buhl, Burley, Gooding, Hailey, Jerome, Rupert, Shoshone, and Twin Falls will initiate the change beginning February 1, 2004. Clients may schedule appointments by calling their local offices.

“We realize how important time is to our clients,” said Lisa Klamm, RN, Immunization Coordinator for South Central District Health. “We want to serve people as quickly and effectively as possible and, when we studied the wait times clients were experiencing in some of our immunization clinics over the past year, we felt that offering clients scheduled appointments would better meet their needs. Our experience with scheduled influenza clinics at some offices this fall cemented the idea.”

“Providing extra convenience for our clients by moving to scheduled appointment times is our goal,” said Klamm.

For more information or to schedule immunization appointments for children, teens, adults, or international travelers, call the South Central District Health office nearest you:
